BIG ISLANDERS ARE WINNERS IN TUG-OF-WAR

Scott Township Team Defeated in Finals of Night Fair Feature.

PROSPECT TAKES THIRD

Board Decides To Hold Exposition Next Year; Attendance Reaches 18,500.

A Big Island township team of 10 men last night won the tug-of-war championship of Marion county when they bested Scott township in two out of three official pulls.

For five minutes, the two teams yanked and tugged at a heavy Manila rope with neither side pulling the other across the deciding line, and the first heat of the finals ended in a draw.

The second heat, which Big Island township won in a minute and five seconds, did not count, for some reason not explained by officials. Then Big Island drew their opponents across the line in one minute and fifty-two seconds to win the third heat.

Big Islanders Rally

At the outset of the fourth heat, Scott township started out toward victory, but a rally of the Big Islanders virtually swept the other team off its feet, and the heat ended after two minutes and three seconds of pulling with Big Island the victor.

The Big Island team won $40, Scott township won $30, and Prospect defeated Green Camp to win $20, the third prize.

Members of the Big Island team, all of whom pulled last night, were Forest Loudenslager, Bernard Cook, Charles Navin, Daniel Seiter, Carl Seiter, Murray Kanbel, Wesley Jenner, Delmer Furniss, Robert Eisele, Harold James, F. W. Seiter and D. D. Chase Sr.

Fair officials estimated that 18,000 attended the fair yesterday, boosting the week's attendance total to 18,500. Many of these were school students, admitted without charge.

The board yesterday decided to hold the 1933 fair two weeks after the state fair, or Sept. 12-15. Although the attendance this year, under ideal weather conditions, did not equal that of last year, the board believes that fair expenses can be cut to the point where the annual exposition can be conducted without loss, members said.

Check Finances

Secretary C. G. Bitzler and Treasurer A. W. Kettle today said they could not state whether the fair had been a financial success until a checkup had been made. A statement of receipts and expenditures of the board for the 1932 fair will be made public within a few days, they said.

Sixty young persons from the Y. M. C. A. presented an entertaining series of athletic exhibitions in a circus directed by J. L. Meredith, former physical director of the Y. Tumbling and exhibitions on parallel bars, and a drill given by 17

GARNER SPEEDING TO BEDSIDE OF MOTHER

Kin of Vice Presidential Candidate Critically Ill in Texas.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17—Speaker John N. Garner left early today for Detroit, Texas, to be at the bedside of his mother, Mrs. Sarah Garner, who is reported critically ill.

The Democratic vice presidential candidate left by train but planned to make connections with an airplane over the southern route in order to reach his destination as soon as possible.

Informed late last night of his aged mother's condition, Garner reached a decision to make the trip without notifying his closest friends.

His mother is 81 years old and physicians there reported her recovery was doubtful.

Only yesterday, Garner told friends he regretted he had been unable to visit his mother recently.

Garner arrived here yesterday to discuss plans for participation in the presidential campaign and had planned to go to New York to confer with James A. Farley, chairman of the Democratic national committee. He left a note to his secretary, Henry Sexton explaining that he planned to remain with his mother indefinitely.

All of his engagements are to be cancelled pending his return to Washington.

"MA" WINS ARGUMENT

Held Up While on Way To Buy Furniture, He Reports to Officials.

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, Sept. 17—Sheriff C. Fred Vollmer and deputies searched the country in the vicinity of Oceola for several hours Friday afternoon and evening for two holdup men driving a Chrysler coupe who Robert Gilliland, Oceola resident, said robbed him of $1,074, money he had saved to start married life with a Nevada girl.

The holdup took place a mile west of Oceola, a village seven miles west of Bucyrus, Friday at 2 p. m. Gilliland, according to his story to officials, was on his way to Nevada where he was to get his bride and they were to drive to Bucyrus to pick out their furniture.

While he was changing a tire the two men drove up and asked him if he needed any assistance, Gilliland told officials. After a brief conversation one of the robbers drew a gun and covered Gilliland while the other opened a door in the Gilliland car and grabbed the money, which Gilliland said was on the floor under the front seat of his coach. The robbers drove rapidly eastward with the gunman standing on the running board of the car. About a hundred yards distant he entered the car and Gilliland turned around and drove back to Oceola where Sheriff Vollmer was notified.

CURTIS TALKS ON FARM ISSUE

Opens Speaking Campaign with Proposal for National Market System.

By The Associated Press

FOGELSVILLE, Pa., Sept. 17—Establishment of a national cooperative system for farm marketing to reduce the price spread between producer and consumer was proposed today by Vice President Curtis.

In his opening campaign speech here at the inaugural of the Pennsylvania Republican drive, Curtis, in his prepared address, devoted himself almost entirely to agriculture and the tariff.

Replies to Roosevelt

Twice he referred to Governor Roosevelt's farm speech in Curtis' home town—Topeka, Kan. The vice president closed with the statement:

"The gradual revival of business throughout the country is the best evidence that confidence is gradually being restored. This is due to the splendid work and great ability our our President, Herbert Hoover."

After making his own proposal for a national cooperative system, Curtis said:

"I have not commented upon Governor Roosevelt's farm relief plan because he has submitted none—he refers to several plans that have been discussed for years and then leaves them for further discussion.

Plan Outlined

Curtis outlined his own plan in these words:

"While this problem (agriculture) has not been and should not be partisan, yet the Republican party wishes to solve it and is anxious to bring the farmer into a situation of equality with industry. One of the problems is to reduce the spread between what the producer on the farm receives and what the ultimate consumer pays for such products. Another is to provide the farmer better marketing facilities.

"I have for years believed a national cooperative system would help solve the problem and I still believe such a system properly organized and conducted would enable the farmer to get a better price for his products and at the same time do no injury to those who deal honestly in the handling and selling of such products, including the distributors who will not give him a square deal."

Nearly 5,000 at Formal Opening of Dairy Plant

A crowd estimated at between 4,500 and 5,000 inspected the new plant of the Moores & Ross Milk Co. on Olney avenue at the formal opening last night. The plant was opened at 7 o'clock and in a few minutes a line extending almost to Church street was waiting to go through the plant. New arrivals continued to join the line until nearly 10 o'clock.

The affair proved a veritable Christmas party and picnic rolled into one for the small boy and his sister. Chocolate covered ice cream bars were given as favors and orders from L. C. Dickson, manager of the plant, that none were to be denied was like a visit from Santa Claus. Although between 4,500 and 5,000 visited the plant nearly 6,000 bars were given away.

Baskets of flowers decorated the front offices and music was furnished by the Moores & Ross sextet from Columbus. Employes stationed at the various machines in the plant explained their operations as the crowd passed through.

Robins Reported Seen.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Sept. 17 — Raymond Robins, missing prohibition leader, who disappeared in New York City, Sept. 4, while on his way to Washington to visit President Hoover, was again reported as having been seen in Chicago. Richard Smith, an acquaintance of the missing man, said he saw Robins yesterday, near the Chicago City club.

NEW RELIEF CENTER WILL OPEN MONDAY

Abandoned Davids Street School Building To Be Used as Welfare Headquarters.

Marion's new relief center in the Davids Street school building will be opened Monday morning, it was announced today by Safety Director Emery M. Murphy. Work of removing the equipment from the present office in the city hall to the school building was completed this afternoon and employes of the department were arranging the office preparatory to opening Monday morning.

In addition to proving an ideal location for the work by reason of four large rooms, the building is almost in the center of the relief territory.

Ample Room Provided

Temporary partitions divide the downstairs room on the north side of the building into a waiting room and two offices. The front office is fitted with a large window opening into the waiting room. It will be used to issue orders while the rear office will be used as a clearing house. A complete record of each family receiving help will be on file in this room and it will be possible at a moment's notice to determine the history of a family, the number of children, when help was last given and the amount.

The waiting room and wide hall leading into the building will be equipped with benches. The room on the south side of the building will be used as a storage for flour, potatoes and any other groceries the city might have for distribution.

Relief Commissioner C. M. Tobin will have his desk in the front office while a small office at the rear will be used by the assistant commissioner and for interviews with those seeking relief.

The two rooms on the second floor will be given over to the making and remodeling of garments and the repairing of shoes. A large well-lighted room on the south side of the building will be used by the women who will make

2 NOT GUILTY PLEAS ENTERED

Couple, Just Released from Hospital, Deny Charges at Arraignment.

THREE TRIAL DATES SET

Three Others Taken to Mansfield To Start Reformatory Sentences.

Two men indicted by the September term grand jury who were confined in the City hospital when other prisoners were arraigned pleaded not guilty when brought before Judge George B. Scofield in common pleas court this morning.

Trial dates for three others who previously pleaded not guilty were set by Judge Scofield.

Three others indicted by the grand jury were taken to Mansfield yesterday to begin reformatory sentences.

East Denies Guilt

Clark East of Cynthiana, one of three indicted on charges of robbing a Columbia street Kroger grocery and the LaRoy V. Conklin grocery on South Vine street last Aug. 20, pleaded not guilty. Paul D. Michel was appointed to represent him. Wounded by Ashward Stover in the Kroger store holdup, he received treatment at the City hospital until Wednesday, when he was taken to the jail to await court action.

Clif Emerson of Marion, charged with breaking and entering a box car with intent to commit larceny, pleaded "not guilty," and Frank Wiedemann was appointed to represent him. He recently underwent an appendicitis operation in the City hospital, and was unable to be arraigned before today.

Trial dates set this morning are: George Beachem of Prospect, charged with breaking and entering a garage of O. H. Reisemyer of Prospect with intent to commit larceny, Sept. 27; Robert Gore, charged with taking part in the same burglary, Sept. 28; Walter Hale of Marion, charged with breaking and entering a garage owned by D. W. Benedict with intent to commit larceny, Sept. 29.

Three Start Terms

David Jolliff of Richwood, Paul Sterling and George White of Cynthiana, were taken to the Mansfield reformatory yesterday to begin indeterminate sentences imposed by Judge Scofield.

Jolliff admitted carrying hacksaw blades to Frank Ferguson to aid in Ferguson's effort to escape from the county jail. White and Sterling admitted holding up two groceries here on Aug. 20.

G. O. P. RALLIES FOR CONFLICT

Northern Ohio Republicans Hear Battle Call as Party Heads Meet.

By The Associated Press

JEFFERSON, O., Sept. 17—The call to political battle went out to Republicans of northern Ohio today near the scene where 76 years ago the first draft of their party's first national platform was written.

A tribute to the author of that first platform—Joshua Reed Giddings—was a part of the 10-hour program in which 1932 state party leaders sounded the challenge to thousands of persons to rally about the standard of the grand old party in a drive for a November victory.

The rally, opening with an afternoon program dedicating 30 bronze tablets commemorating historical events of this vicinity and closing with a burst of oratory from candidates heading the 1932 state ticket, was designed as the official start to the state campaign.

Backbone Reviewed

Events directly connected with the formation and activities of the Republican party were among the historical landmarks memorialized in the script on the tablets, one of which was set within the city limits building whose doorways marks the original G. O. P. meeting.

CAUTION RULES WALL STREET

Bullish Effect in Rails Misses Fire; Bears Cling to Positions.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Sept 17—Speculative circles remained cautious in Wall Street today, and a bullish effort in the railroad shares missed fire

Rails pushed up rather briskly for a time in the first hour, but the list drifted off in the last hour in quiet trading The buying of rails failed to provoke any considerable short covering and there was sufficient week end lightening of long accounts to give the list an easy tone at the close Many leaders closed fractions to about a point net lower The turnover was only about three-quarters of a million shares.

An interesting development of the day was the stock exchange's announcement that members need only report short positions as of the close each Monday rather than daily and that they may discontinue tabulation of short sales covered the same day Some brokers who have felt that the recent sharp shrinkage of the short interest was unhealthy, said this would restore more normal trading conditions, and might help to build up the short position thus strengthening the market technically

The railroad stock generally moved ahead early and advances of 1 to 2 points were numerous in the first hour, but this upswing was virtually cancelled in the late trading The rails mostly closed about unchanged, although a few actually showed net losses including Santa Fe Union Pacific, and Delaware & Hudson, off 1 to 2 points

Steels encountered some selling, as week-end advices failed to indicate any sharp quickening of production although Wall Street continued to hear of plans of placing orders for rails and other railroad equipment U S and Bethlehem Steel common shares lost more than a point Bethlehem preferred was off 2, and U S Steel preferred, about 1

Miscellaneous issues losing a point or so included Allied Chemical, American Can, International Harvester, Eastman Liggett and Myers B, Consolidated Gas and Western Union Peoples Gas slipped off 4. American Telephone was about steady at the finish.

SALES WAVE HITS MARKET

Export Demand for Wheat on Chicago Pit Is Black.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Sept 17—Grain traders leaned to the selling side today, influenced by an easier tone in securities and cotton.

Acting as a drag on wheat values were continued staggering receipts reported at Winnipeg, 2,432 cars today, against 1,308 a week ago and 573 at this time last year. Another bearish factor was an official report that domestic use of wheat during the 1932-33 season promised to be about 660,000 bushels, compared to 723,000,000 in 1931-32 The report said whatever improvement in world wheat prices had taken place the last two months must be attributed to other reasons than to changes in the supply situation

Wheat held within unusually narrow price limits the greater part of the day Numerous good sized orders both to buy and sell were executed around 28 cents for December without affecting values to any great extent Later, the market dipped somewhat, owing to weakness in cotton and stocks Corn and oats were influenced by capable advices that Danubian offers were materially below United States corn

Provisions duplicated steadiness of hog values

OBERKULM, Switzerland — The villagers in this peaceful little valley are watching with "home-town" pride the campaign of President Herbert Hoover for reelection.

By all of the numerous families of Hubers here, President Hoover is regarded as a cousin—a very distant cousin, it is true, but member of the family nevertheless.

The other citizens of the commune (or county) are equally proud to claim him as a fellow-citizen under the Swiss law which would grant him civil rights even though his ancestors left Switzerland some 232 years ago. And they have no intention of letting Palo Alto or West Branch, Ia., get all the credit for sponsoring an American president.

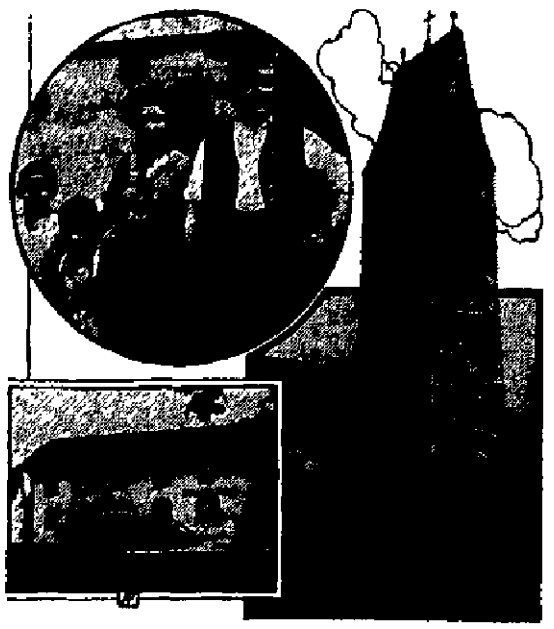
These good farmers, of rugged mountain stock, are so certain Mr. Hoover will sit in the White House another four years that they are drawing up a letter of congratulation which they expect to address, as they have letters in the past, "To The President Of The United States."

As proof that they have a claim on "Herbert Huber," as they call the President, all available evidence tending to show that the President's ancestors were natives of Oberkulm is displayed on a wall in the Huber (Hoover) restaurant and general store, kept by Wirat Otto Huber, his wife and two sons, Jakob and Rudolph.

The restaurant is in what is supposed to have been the house from which the President's ancestors emigrated, about 1700, to Ellerstadt, Germany, whence they journeyed to America.

The Huber museum is on view to every one who cares to refresh himself with a glass of cold beer. It contains photostatic copies of birth certificates, passenger list of the boat which took the first Huber across the Atlantic, and numerous photographs of houses inhabited by the Huber family.

In the center of the exhibit is a portrait of the President.



Citizens of Oberkulm, Switzerland, point pridefully to the Huber general store and restaurant (below) as the home of President Herbert Hoover's ancestors. The spacious building is now occupied by Wirt Otto Huber, his wife and their two children, Jakob and Rudolph (above). Archives supporting the villagers claims are jealously guarded in a safe in the village church (right).

The birth certificates classify the early Hubers as burghes and weavers. The present generation, through the reflected prestige of the White House, have become the aristocrats of the valley

On Oberkulm's Broadway

The house in which President Hoover's ancestors are presumed to have lived is on the Broadway of Oberkulm. It is surrounded by flower gardens and is kept up in the tidiest Swiss fashion.

"Broadway" runs between the house and the barn, which look as if they were scrubbed twice daily.

Unterkulm and Oberkulm are villages a mile apart. Together, they give their name to the commune which consists of 17 forming communities, each one of which has its mayor.

JUDGE DISMISSES 3 DAMAGE CASES

$40,000 Suits Against County Board in Drowning of Teachers Dropped.

Six common pleas court actions have been dismissed by Judge George B. Scofield.

Damage suits brought against the county commissioners by J. A. Munyan and D. B. Lehman, for the deaths of their daughters in an accident shortly after Easter in 1929 when an automobile plunged over a bridge abutment into a stream east of Caledonia, were dismissed for want of prosecution.

These cases were identical with that of Charles E Lukens, who sought $40,000 damages from the commissioners for the death of his daughter, Ruth E. Lukens, in the same accident. The Munyan and Lehman cases have not been pressed since the state supreme court held that the commissioners were not liable for damage in this case.

A money only action of the J. J. Cuti Co., Inc., against the LaRue Grain & Supply Co, another titled Baldo, Inc., against Clifford E Hoch as the Hoch Motor Sales, and a suit of A. J. Manley against S. C. Blue and others to marshal liens also were dismissed, as was a divorce action titled Ora E Drake against James C. Drake.

Judge Scofield yesterday assigned 56 cases for hearing and 20 for trial during the September term of court when he called the docket in the courtroom yesterday. Dates for the trials and hearings have not been set.

AVENUE LUMBER & SUPPLY CO. BUILDS REPUTATION BY SELLING QUALITY MERCHANDISE AT FAIR PRICES

Write an ad (5"x12") for Schaffner-Queen Co. Submit your ad to Schaffner-Queen Co. not later than 5 p. m. next Wednesday.

The problems of better building does not concern only the contractor or builder who selects and applies the materials used. It is of first importance also to the dealer who furnishes the lumber and builders supplies. Although there are no more important items in the construction of homes than skill and good workmanship these can only be used to best advantage when combined with materials of unquestioned quality. The Avenue Lumber & Supply Co takes pride in its long established reputation of having complete lines of quality lumber, roofing, paint, builder's supplies and hardware.

A complete showing of Enterprise paints, enamels, supplies builders hardware, roof paint and extra conveniences for the housewife's kitchen are displayed in the retail department of the office building.

Great sheds shelter immense quantities of high grade, seasoned, straight-grained lumber and building supplies. Wide assortments of lumber, face brick, cement, wallboard, wall tile, hardwood flooring, stained shingles and sashing are included.

With a little careful planning and at a very nominal cost, your home may be remodeled inside and out at a trifling cost, when compared to the increased value and added convenience and comfort.

Plans and estimates on buildings of any size may be freely obtained without obligations whatsoever. The company's planning department is for that purpose. Suggestions and figures concerning remodeling will be supplied at any time.

The company handles nationally advertised products and adheres rigidly to the policy of supplying patrons with materials of high quality at a fair price.

Low building prices have made it an extravagance not to modernize the home. Have you outgrown your home? If so, you needn't move. The 1932 dollar buys more home than ever before. Space has value and is not to be wasted. If your basement is only an exaggerated furnace room it needs to be remodeled. It holds, potentially, a den for father, a playroom or gymnasium for the children or a sewing and utility room for mother.

The back porch may be made into a delightful breakfast nook. Once the world looked to the attic only for its great pictures, poems, novels and music. Now it is fashionable and sensible to remodel the attic into a pleasant little study or a quaint guest room.

Recently the Avenue Lumber & Supply Co. was appointed distributors for Curtis millwork and kitchen units. The kitchen units will appeal to every housewife, they consist of drawers, cupboards, etc., in sections making possible combinations to suit every desire and for any position in the kitchen.

Millwork consists of new simplified designs of doors and windows. These will be of interest to everyone who is considering remodeling or building.

Asbestos Roof Proves Cheapest

Among the leading nationally advertised items of which the Avenue Lumber & Supply Co is distributor are Johns-Manville products. This name is backed by over a half century of research and experience in the manufacture of quality building materials.

No finer roof can be be selected than one of fireproof, weatherproof Johns-Manville asbestos shingles; all the features of a perfect roof are combined in one permanent material, recognized to be the utmost in roofing quality.

J-M Asbestos Shingles are unaffected by the action of the elements. They will not rust, rot, warp, split or corrode. They absolutely will not burn, and not one has ever worn out. The first cost is the last cost.

They are available in every desired range of colors, styles, and prices, to meet every design, personal preference or budget. These permanent shingles can be applied right over an old roof. Wherever used one is assured of complete protection for a lifetime without further expense.

Johns-Manville asbestos shingles add materially to the appearance and value of the home. New designs and simplified application methods have brought the cost of a J-M shingle roof within reach of every budget. Through the experience gained in these years of activity there has been developed a growing line of allied products, each of which contributes to the building of better and more comfortable homes. A few of the products are asbestos and asphalt shingles, ready roofs, insulation, insulating board, asbestos wainscoting and wall sheets, roof coatings and putties.

TAKING OFF WITH A WHIZ

At first glance it would seem as if this plane were just about to head on its nose, but curiously for the pilot it was going in the opposite direction. Photo shows F. de Angeli, Italian flier making one of his spectacular take-offs at a 45 degree angle at a Berlin, Germany, airport. He was practicing for the air race around Europe which started recently. Like a sprinter, he believes that it is the start that counts.

HUCKE PLANS TALK SERIES

Program Outlined for Dinner Lectures by Pastor of Reformed Church.

Dr. Robert W. Hucke of the First Reformed church has announced a series of mid-week dinner lectures, the first of which will be held Wednesday at 6 p. m.

Each lecture will be 15 minutes in length, dealing with subjects from the viewpoint of Christian psychology, and presented in a way that each will be helpful in making it possible for individuals to live "a triumphant life," according to Dr. Hucke.

Dinner will be served at 6 p. m. and the lecture will occupy the last 15 minutes of the hour which will be devoted to the service. The women of the church will prepare the dinners, which will be served at a nominal fee, and following the lecture a program of music will be given under the direction of Asa Queen.

Dr. Hucke explained yesterday that this method of service is new in the field of religious work, but that it carries with it an appeal to the modern church worker and the business and professional man and woman.

The services will be interdenominational. Each week Dr. Hucke will lecture on one of the following subjects: "Why Are We Here," dealing with the real meaning of life; "Do You Know Yourself," or "The Real You"; "Can You Go Alone," a plea for strength through solitude; "The World You Live In," or "How We Build Our Own World"; "As a Man Thinketh," or "How Thought Determines Destiny"; "The Three Basic Yearnings of Humanity" will be presented in bread, beauty and brotherhood; "The Human Magnet," or "How to Use the Law of Attraction"; "How Abideth These Three," or "The Alchemy of Faith, Hope and Love"; "Secrets of Supreme Success," or "How to Win Prosperity"; "Wings of Imagination," which deals with the soul of genius; "The Will to Do," or "How to Make Your Will Supreme"; "Fear and Worry Vanquished"; "The Blue Bird of Happiness"; "The Vanquishment of Trouble"; "Sources of Power Which Deal With the Hidden Springs of Triumphant Being"; "Gold Everywhere"; "The Fountain of Youth"; "Ten Laws of a Triumphant Life."

Reservations for the dinners may be made by notifying Dr. Hucke or by calling 6722 or 3003.

HARVEST FESTIVAL WILL BE OBSERVED

First Reformed Church Plans Special Service for Sunday.

The First Reformed church will celebrate one of the oldest church festivals in the history of the church in its harvest home services Sunday at 10:30 a. m. and at night at 7:30.

Dr. Robert W. Hucke, pastor, will preach in the morning on "The Harvest Field," and at night on "The Harvest Miracle." The church will be decorated for the occasion in fruits, vegetables and grain.

The choir, under the direction of Asa Queen, will sing songs in keeping with the service. The junior congregation, which will meet at 10:15, will hear a 15-minute sermon by Dr. Hucke on "The Meaning of Harvest Home."

OUTING, PLAYLET PLANNED BY GROUP

Miss Constance Reinwald presided as leader at a devotional meeting held by the members of the Young People's league of the Salem Evangelical church in the church parlors Thursday night. The meeting was opened with a song and scripture reading followed by a prayer and response.

The topic of the meeting "Other Gods Of Today." A discussion was held. During a business session in charge of Robert Todd, president, it was decided to hold a wiener roast at Gant's grove in Prospect Sept. 21. Plans were also made for a playlet to be given in honor of National League day. The wiener roast will be in charge of Edward Melvin, chairman of the entertainment committee.

Rally Day for Churches

A SERMONETTE

BY REV. J. M. FISHER, Director Lee Street Presbyterian Church

THE summer vacation season is over. Such a season should bring help and inspiration as well as some rest to every church and every organization within the church. When the minister leaves his charge for his vacation, it does not mean that there is a slump in the church life; it should mean an inspiration for the members to carry on better than at any time; it should mean that such church members are properly instructed during his presence, so that when he is away the work of the church goes on just the same.

Every minister is certainly blessed, when he returns from his vacation, to find that his flock has been faithful to the services and is ready to rally to the support of the fall and winter program of the church. Such a rally day program for the entire church might be of help and encouragement not only to the minister and officers but also to members. Every effort put forth to rally the entire church forces, from the cradle roll to the home department, would mean another blessing. Such blessings can come only through a spiritual program left in the hands of God, to be used by Him, through the church. The personnel of such a program must have a minister whose personality is aflame for doing the best good. This does not mean new programs but it does mean a consecrated minister interested in the spiritual uplift of the church and community. The personnel of such a program must have church officers, who are just as consecrated and devoted in their lives as is the minister. The officers of a church can make or mar the success of Christ's Kingdom by their interest or lack of interest in such a program. Such officers should be a consecrated force every day. The personnel of such a program should have every member of the church personally interested in reaching others who are out from the fold; being a follower of Christ and witnessing for Him, winning for Christ at least one other person. May every church be so blessed by God; may every church be so consecrated to His services, may this be our prayer as we rally for God and His Kingdom.

"Great Doctrines of the Bible" will furnish the material for the Sunday night sermons of Rev. S F. Porter, pastor of Emmanuel Baptist church, he announced today.

In explaining the adoption of this theme, he said, in part:

"By changing the subject matter of the evening messages from the ethical and the experimental, to the doctrinal, there will be of necessity a noticeable change in material used, but the sermons will continue an aggressive appeal to the non-Christian.

"I am led to make this change because of the many destructive heresies, isms and false doctrines that are being preached."

The introductory sermon will introduce the doctrine of God, His being and His work. The material he will use will deal with doctrine and theology, doctrine and religion and doctrine and dogma.

REFUSES TO CHANGE HATS

Walter J. Kohler, conservative Republican candidate for his former job as governor of Wisconsin, has refused to discard his straw hat until the state primary Sept. 20—although it's been to cool that he has worn a topcoat and muffler. His opponent for the nomination is Governor Philip LaFollette. (Associated Press photo).

LA FOLLETTES BEFORE VOTERS IN WISCONSIN

Biennial Struggle Between Republican Factions To Be Decided Tuesday.

By The Associated Press

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Sept. 17 — The biennial struggle between two factions of Republicans for control of the state administration goes to a decision of the voters in Wisconsin's primary next Tuesday with the political leadership of the LaFollette brothers—Governor Phil and Senator Bob—hinging on the outcome.

Governor LaFollette, a candidate for re-election, seeks the Republican nomination. Opposing him is former Gov. Walter J. Kohler, who has led the fight of Republicans supporting the national administration.

Governor LaFollette, aided by his brother, Sen. Robert M. LaFollette, and the latter's colleague, Sen. John J. Blaine, has stumped the state throughout the summer.

The governor has charged the Republican party is "the soulless tool of entrenched wealth," while Senator Blaine has suggested President Hoover be impeached for his attitude toward bonus-seeking veterans.

Senator Blaine is seking re-election for a second term. He has as his opponent John B. Chapple editor of the Ashland Daily Press. Chapple is supporting President Hoover and Kohler.

had sought a murder warrant in vain because they had no corpus delicti, had shaved off his smartly curled moustache and taken the name "Ralph Anderson."

Immediately Assistant District Attorneys John V. Sullivan rushed 10 men with pickaxes and sledge hammers to the DuBois summer cottage with orders to demolish it if necessary in the search.

A few blows of a sledge laid open the vault, a strong concrete box in the cellar. The body lay inside, wrapped in black cloth, a pillow underneath the head and a window cord about the waist. Medical examination showed Mrs. DuBois died of a bullet wound about Aug. 19, the day police had figured she disappeared.

Girl Absolved

After DuBois was released last Monday, police questioned Miss Grace Atwood of Middlebury, blond and youthful daughter of a wealthy manufacturer. They said she told them she had been friendly with DuBois. He had informed her, she said, that his wife was killed in an automobile accident in Montreal. Authorities absolved Miss Atwood of any knowledge of the slaying.

Lawrence Frazier, former chauffeur for the DuBois family, was brought here from Bradenton for questioning. He told police he assisted DuBois in laying a concrete layer in the cellar, but by said DuBois informed him it was a foundation for a pump and washing machine.

By The Associated Press

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Sept. 17—Checking off the eighth of the states he has crossed on his presidential campaign to the west, Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt left behind Wyoming with its cheering crowds and reached Salt Lake City where tonight he will advance proposals for relieving the nation's railroad situation.

Mr. Roosevelt arrived at Salt Lake City, one of the important railroad centers of the west, about midnight Friday. He will remain Saturday and Sunday. Sunday night his special train will head north for the Pacific northwest.

Most of today was given over to conferences with delegations from Utah, Montana, Wyoming and Nevada. Since leaving Albany last Monday night Roosevelt has crossed Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Missouri, Kansas, Colorado and Wyoming.

It is understood that the Democratic nominee, among other things, will ask for a broadening of the powers of the interstate commerce commission, to include jurisdiction over bus, truck and airplane service.

After leaving Denver, early Friday morning, the Roosevelt special traveled all day through the Wyoming "cow" country—the last frontier. Mr. Roosevelt made seven appearances as his train threaded its way through the sage brush and swung around broad topped mountains.

Four Bystanders.

Four wounded men in Chicago, one dying and another expected to die, make another reason why Mayor Cermak's advice to the London police department to carry guns probably will not be taken seriously. The four were bystanders, shot down in the spray of bullets from a machine gun with which a cutload of fleeing gangsters held off armed policemen.

Chicago policemen are armed by necessity. The criminals whom they battle to the death can get all the guns they need, and the hazards of their pursuits leave no doubt about needing them. It is to be expected that a few people will be sacrificed occasionally—a few innocent people and a great many guilty ones. Where there are guns there is bound to be killing.

Revolvers used to be pretty deadly, but they are toys in contrast to the portable machine guns that criminals have turned to in their struggle to defend themselves against occupational rivals and the police. Sawed-off shotguns, dynamite, bombs—Chicago has been exposed to them all.

Even gas, a subject of discussion when nations meet to discuss armament problems, is part of the standard equipment in the American battle with crime. There is a ceaseless contest between the police and the hoodlums for superiority—a kind of miniature armament race, in the European style.

Unfortunately, it has provided the people with the same kind of security. An increasing number of ingenious ways to deal death merely has exposed them more frequently to danger.

Maine Troubles Again.

Louis Brann, Maine's new Democratic governor, has been getting attention all out of proportion to the importance of his job. From a publicity standpoint, it is his good fortune to be that Republican state's first Democratic governor-elect in almost two decades. Democrats, quite naturally, are excited about their victory.

But Governor-elect Brann is of the type that won't be spoiled by worrying about public opinion, evidently. He stands on his own feet, square with the world and maker of his own destiny. His good wife, who must have broken down in a moment of weakness when representatives of the press were present, admits that she is going to have to learn to play bridge to acquit herself properly in her new position. But her husband never has learned to play and never will, she confesses.

Now there's a man who can be appreciated fully by other men—a man's man, if you please. There's no reason to believe that up in Maine there is any more charity in the tone of people who exclaim, "What, you don't play bridge?" than there is in Ohio. Mr. Brann must have been forced to set his jaw many an evening to keep himself from being propped across from some kind person willing to initiate him into the overflowing ranks of the entertainment conformists.

It's the little things that make the key to character. It will be a great disappointment if Louis Brann doesn't turn out to be one of the thumpingest executives that ever broke his heart on the flinty perversity of his stony state's hard-hearted electorate. He has shaken off the addicts of the bridge table; he must know his own mind.

Official Fussers.

The way seems to have been prepared for at least one more Washington jobholder. He will be the chief-top man for one of the official fussing agencies, the United States geographic board.

The board has just made a decision which seems to have made this opening for some alert young man who won't mind undergoing the hardships of which government employes invariably complain. Hereafter, federal departments will spell the names of foreign cities according to the local usage, unless the English form is of long standing.

This means, of course, that the painstaking education and long usage that have gone into the process of making dozens of federal clerks and bigwigs woeful will have to be augmented suddenly and painfully. One does not pick up a whole new set of names like bargains at a sale. A tedious period of acquirement is necessary.

The geographic board, designated an official arbiter of spelling in all such cases, will have many stern decisions to make. It must be able to call them out without hesitation, or it will undergo the same harsh treatment that awaits any umpire who hesitates. Hence, the alert young man.

He will be an exhibarat decision maker. It will be his job to make himself as available as possible during the hours of employment in all departments where it will matter if a clerk forgets that Pernambuco is not Pernambuco at all, but Recife. He will know there must be dozens of young men sitting on their hands in various sections of the nation who could become experts with a few days of training.

The geographic board, the civil service commission, the gabbing intelligence of the protective associations, into which federal employes flee to escape the rapacious taxpayers, and the employes themselves, have heard nothing about this new job. It is announced herewith as a minor contribution to the cause of making every citizen either an employe or a dependent of government.

The Taxpayer's One Pocket.

Finance Director Howard L. Bevis made a speech in a sentence at Columbus a few days ago. "Our governments are becoming, for the most part, public service corporations," he said.

General realization of the coolness of this new conception of government has been hitting taxpayers hard. For the first time since they started it, they are beginning to understand what they have been doing—most of them unwittingly.

They have been using government's taxing power as a means of putting money into their own pockets, forgetting that a taxpayer has but one pocket. They did not want to remember. Apparently, the money being spent so lavishly was produced by spontaneous generation, they didn't miss it until the supply began to dwindle.

It is possible, of course, to prove almost anything with figures. However, certain figures may be quoted which prove themselves. A glance at the federal budget for 1932 reveals many amounts that stand without explanation, as proof that the American taxpayer is his own worst enemy.

An expenditure of $102,000,000 for the federal farm board is one of the first public service expenses to meet the eye. It has nothing to do with government, it represents help for a section of the population—help which only recently has come into question.

For veterans' administration there is an item of $1,138,892,000, some of which is justified, a great deal of which must be charged off to political beneficence. This class of expense, more than any other, is being examined carefully by awakening taxpayers.

These two figures alone, representing about to one fourth of all federal expenditures, tell the story. They prove that Finance Director Bevis is not far wrong in his assertion that the cost of government, national, state, and local, has been padded with extravagances that can be traced to the people, themselves. A depression has been required to reveal the effect of the practice. Nevertheless, it is a policy that does not lack defenders.

Government costs too much, there is universal agreement on that point. Inevitably, the cost is going to increase, if it takes over any more of the functions formerly reserved for private enterprise. By what kind of an educational program will those who advocate further extensions of governmental activity into the public service field be able to convince taxpayers that it is wise to increase the turnover in the taxpaying pocket, at the cost of decreasing the supply available for circulation among participants in private business?

Barring Unforseen Developments.

Weathermen, more than most human beings, know how to walk briskly down the middle of the road, appearing to be appointed guardians of the whole truth on an important topic, giving their information to all who ask for it, yet ending up at the end of each day with unbroken heads and unwounded sensibilities. In the phrase of the moment, they have mastered the secret of "taking it."

Perhaps 10,000,000 baseball fans want clear weather for a world series game. They turn to the weatherman. Without apparent hesitation he starts to retake his stuff. As far as can be determined, there is no reason to believe that rain will fall or winds will blow until the game is over. There are storms here, storms there, temperatures are thus and so, the barometer is falling, but it looks favorable for a special dispensation of good atmospheric conditions over the baseball park.

Sometimes it rains and 10,000 baseball fans are disappointed. But no one ever heard of a weatherman being any the worse for it, despite the story about the one who couldn't make the sun shine for a presidential inauguration. Any one who has tried to please any portion of 10,000,000 people, down to a minimum of two, can not help but be amazed at the way it all happens.

Perhaps weathermen, in a subtle way, are just as good at "giving it" as they are at "taking it." Let Joseph M. Kincer, chief of the agricultural meteorology division of the weather bureau, be an illustration. This is what Chief Kincer says, in effect, on the prospect for a mild winter.

There will be a mild winter, unless there is an unprecedentedly sharp drop in temperatures. Everything is favorable to a mild winter; at least, nothing is unfavorable to it. I will not forecast a mild winter definitely, however.

In other words, it may or may not be a mild winter. With 120,000,000 people interested, Mr. Kincer has done all that lies in his power to tell them what they want to know. But he hasn't told them anything for certain. Smart fellows, weathermen. Did they get that way from watching politicians or do politicians watch them?

Comment of the Press

BANNING LABOR-SAVING MACHINERY.

Spreading available work for the benefit of the unemployed has brought a significant reversal of the trend on which industrial progress for years has prided itself. Along with the requirement of a 30-hour work week has come a government ruling against the unnecessary use of labor-saving mechanical devices which reduce the number of workers needed. Here is an anomaly which accentuates the topsy-turvy conditions produced by the economic depression.

The state highway department of Illinois is letting contracts for road construction to be paid for with funds received by it under federal relief legislation which specifies that hand labor is to replace machinery on the jobs so financed wherever that is feasible. It will be interesting to compare prices for construction under that limitation with prices for work on which the maximum use of machinery is allowed.

Twenty-five per cent more workers, it is estimated, can be employed on a road-construction job where machinery does not needlessly displace hand work than could be used otherwise. Probably one may assume confidently that the average percentage for all forms of industry would be at least as high. But the world of industry would have to be desperately out of joint to justify any such return to the primitive.—Chicago Daily News.

Daily Guide to Health

BY DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND.

Decrease of Botulism.

For many years little was known concerning a disease called "botulism." Under certain conditions a food may become contaminated with the germ of this ailment. When this food is eaten, botulism results.

Within recent years this disease has steadily declined. It is hoped that within a short time it will no longer exist. It used to be caused by eating commercially canned food products. Due to the rigid measures of health law enforcement and the cooperation of the canning industry, the disease rarely, if ever, comes from this source. Instead, the few outbreaks that have been reported of late have been traced to the consumption of home-canned foods.

Botulism may be caused by eating contaminated meat and vegetables. It is particularly common when vegetables, such as ripe olives, canned string beans, asparagus, corn or apricots, are put up in home preserving. Lack of proper facilities in home canning may permit the live germ to enter the finished product. On the contrary the commercial plants have scientifically constructed machines and processes that eliminate the possibility of any germs being left in the cans.

The decrease in the number of cases of botulism may be attributed to our increased knowledge. Or it may be due to the decline in home canning.

Canned goods can now be purchased all year round and are prepared in such a way as to tempt the housewife. The purchasing of high grade canned foods guarantees the housewife a scientifically pure food and saves her many hours of unnecessary labor.

When foods are canned at home, only fresh and clean foodstuffs should be used. Heating at a high temperature is important. The cans or jars used for preserving should be cleansed and boiled before use. They should be air-tight and boiled at a high temperature so as to destroy all germs.

Contrary to a common belief, cooking alone is not sufficient to destroy the germs of poisonous food. Food that is contaminated should never be used. Meats should be thoroughly cooked and served as soon as possible. Remember that when food is allowed to stand it deteriorates and allows bacterial growth. Foods that are capable of spoiling should be kept in a refrigerator and should be cleansed carefully before using.

ANSWERS TO HEALTH QUERIES.

Lou Q.—I am 29½ years old, 5 ft. 7 inches tall, what should I weigh? 2.—How can I fatten my face?

A.—You should weigh about 134 pounds. This is about the average weight for one of this age and height as determined by examination of a large number of persons. A few pounds above or below the average is a matter of little or no significance.

2.—Try to gain weight in general. Eat plenty of good nourishing food, including milk and eggs. Exercise daily in the fresh air and sunshine. Sleep as many hours as possible. Take cod liver oil as a general tonic and builder.—Copyright, 1932, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

A Washington Daybook

BY HERBERT PLUMMER.

Washington, Sept. 17—One would hardly say that Senator Vandenberg of Michigan is a stylist of the caustic or particularly fond of coining new expressions.

Despite his having been a newspaper editor a great part of his life and chairman of a state committee, in other words, when he engages in caustic debates he prefers to talk in straight-forward and serious fashion.

He's not like Ashurst of Arizona, for example. That former cowboy says with words and phrases as if they were as delicate as a piece of China. He strives for the unusual, chooses words that startle, that accent, that express the exact shade of his thought.

Nor has Vandenberg shown much tendency to crack wise as Moses of New Hampshire does so frequently, or heat being words and expressions as does Johnson of California, or ramble seemingly aimlessly thinking neither of audience nor caution as does "Jim Hom" Lewis of Illinois.

That he should many around the capitol to think a bit the other day when he issued a statement through the Republican national committee that for expressiveness and new verbiage would have done credit to any of the senate's "old masters."

Speaker Garner, he said, in indulging in the "familiar fiddle-faddling" when he talks about the Democratic attitude on the tariff "Fiddle-faddling." That's a brand new one. Just what it means, perhaps only the senator knows. The nearest meaning the handbook of campaign expressions gives to the time-honored word "pussyfooting."

That's probably what the senator had in mind judging from the rest of the white statement.

Actually there is evidence in the statement to justify the belief that when he had coined "fiddle-faddle," the serious young senator was so pleased with it that he proceeded to go on a word spree in the succeeding paragraphs.

"The Democrats hitch-hiked on the almost-literary tariff bill for every protective rate they could get. . . . Will they continue to just hitch-hike for themselves?"

But that wasn't all. Read this one:

"As contemplators, the speaker and his colleagues are about as constituent as a chameleon on plaid."

Truly, if the senator ever applies for membership in that charmed circle of Ashurst, Bloom, Lewis, Johnson and others, this statement should help enliven his credentials.

Daily Talk to Parents

BY ALICE JUDSON PEALE

MUTUAL TOLERANCE.

A father promised his small son that he would take him to the park on Sunday afternoon. The arrival of guests prevented him carrying out his promise.

That evening at supper the boy looked up from his plate and said in a tone of deadly earnestness:

Father is a liar, that's what he is!"

This was not insolence. It was a solemn judgment passed upon the father's failure to live up to his promise. In his child's estimation he had become a "liar."

There is, probably, no harsher judge than the child who is disappointed by parents who themselves hold him up to rigorous standards of conduct. He has taken over his parents' ideas of absolute right and wrong and he not only judges himself by them, but his parents as well.

This is likely to lead to embarrassing situations for the conduct of few parents can stand a verdict based upon perfectionist precepts. Probably the safest course is for the parents to make no claims either to perfection or infallibility and to refrain from attempting to hold their children to impossible ideals.

It is, to be sure, necessary that children should think of truthfulness, honesty and consideration as high and desirable virtues. They should have reason to feel that their parents actually do represent these virtues to a high degree.

But they should not be required to think of them as perfect. They should expect to make allowances for their parents' occasional failures to live up to the ideal much as they themselves expect to be forgiven for their own shortcomings.

This attitude makes for tolerance and understanding between adult and child.

DIFFERENT TAX PLAN SUGGESTED.

Marion, Ohio
Sept. 16, 1932

Editor Star:

According to the September 12th issue of the Star our city council voted unanimously for a two-mill tax levy for 1933 for poor relief purposes. I am in favor of helping the poor but I can not see why councill should single out one particular group to bear this burden, namely, the owners of real estate.

There are hundreds of men and women in Marion who work every day yet do not pay one cent of taxes. It is largely this group who put these special tax levies across and thereby think they have done their patriotic duty. Why not put on an occupational tax and let every one who has a job have a part in this worthy task of caring for our needy.

In a recent statement by our county auditor he advised that approximately 40 per cent of Marion county's taxpayers have failed to pay their taxes, many of them no doubt being out of work and unable to do so, and I doubt the wisdom of burdening them with additional taxes.

It would seem that our officials and financial institutions are doing all possible to discourage home ownership in Marion, which is a bad situation for any city. The least we can do is to vote Dr levy down at the November election and maybe our council will devise a plan of raising funds on a more equal basis.

New York Day by Day

BY O. O. McINTYRE.

New York, Sept. 17—Purely personal gaffe: Somehow when I meet Ted Healy I want to wrestle. Few write so gracious a letter as Pierre Cartier. My Boston, for no reason, stretched out flat on the stone mattress where Lindbergh landed at Le Bourget, and where Jeanne d'Arc became a flaming torch at Rouen.

I never sleep a wink at night before starting on a journey. No person ever seemed so mysterious to me as Tex Rickard. The most accomplished newspaper reporter I know is Alfred Segal, of Cincinnati. I think there is an Ethiopian in the woodpile in that Virginia shooting.

Cities impress me in staccato. For instance, San Francisco: Cable cars and a stiff climb. Chicago: Parmalee transfer and the blind fiddler with his fox terrier. New Orleans: The old absinthe house and wide Canal street. I daydream of jogging through Ireland in a donkey-drawn cart.

Negro spirituals often affect me more than profound sermons. I always expect girls named Daisy to be flippant. A stony faced neighbor greets me with a quick pig-like grunt. I had a crossing cop tell him I was a professional gigolo and he believed it. A hat clerk recently talked me into a derby.

I don't like Pa and Ma as names for parents. Father and Mother strike me better. I once went home from a business college and addressed my father as "Governor." But just that once. My wife can not go to sleep unless the room is in order. I never pick up anything.

I love to hear Ramsay MacDonald say "euereuld." And I'd give a lot to talk Back Bay Boston naturally. My only affectation in speech is self-consciousness before Englishmen when I find myself putting on a little side. I now have a fountain pen that doesn't smear me to the arm pits.

The shyest man I ever met was Pierre Loti, the most enthusiastic, Harry Van Hoven, and the most fascinating Michael Arlen. The most beautiful sight I ever saw was an orchid growing on the side of a palm tree on a lagoon's edge in Florida. And a full moon was in effulgence, too. Had I been a poet! The people who have belittled my writing efforts most have been among those with whom I was served. The most hilarious simile I know, and unpublishable, was authored by an Ohio river wharf master.

I act nonchalant if a telegram arrives before company, but it always gives me a scare. The best column title, I think, is Hanes Swaffer's "Beautiful London Yesterday." Of all mixtures in drinking days, the silver fizz was area. I belong to no clubs and every penny I own is in an annuity for my wife.

Six people have given me cigarette lighters since I quit smoking. I could shoot in cold blood people who nudge me at plays. For eight years, I've had a weekly letter from an unknown woman in Illinois who signs herself "Buddy," and seems to think I'm her son. I own but one painting of any value—a gift. I flip a coin in the air when worried and puff up like a poisoned pup when bitten by a mosquito.

My enthusiasm for poetry is slim. The reading I look forward to with greatest zest is a detective story in the train berth. But invariably I read a few pages, turn out the lights and gaze out the window. Books that open with a scene in a restaurant make me a customer too. My wife and I can carry on a sustained conversation using only the first letter of each word.

Greenwich Village and around Washington Square at night are the loveliest sections of the city. I once caught a bare toe in a bicycle chain and it's still out of kilter. My favorite hot night dinner is: pear and cream cheese salad, imported sardines, mixed cold vegetable salad, fried corn and a pineapple sherbet. O, yes, iced tea to drink.

Next to dog poisoners, my greatest contempt is for blackmailers. The breziest people are advertising chiefs. There are several hundred schemes now hatched to shear the investment suckers when things get going full tilt again. You'll thank me for this advice a year from now—buy only government bonds for awhile.

OHIO GOVERNORS.

Edward Tiffin, Ohio's first governor, was one of three governors the state has had who were born abroad. England was his birthplace. Tom L. Young was a native of Ireland and J. D. Cox was born in Montreal, though his parents were living in Canada only temporarily.

William Hunnam, elected in 1858, was the first native son of Ohio elected governor. Thomas W. Bartley was nominated in the governor's chair by his father Governor, and that is something that may never happen again.

No governor of Ohio ever was charged with malfeasance, though Worthington and Brough were accused while in office, the former for a small debt and the latter for libel. William Bebb was, after retiring from office, tried for murder but acquitted.

Gilbert Lockwood was the only Republican ever elected governor of Ohio. The last governor's name to appear on a ballot for election was Governor Cox, but Governor Harding was elected.

The Democrats won the only governor's election in Ohio's history in which three candidates were voted for. That was in 1844, when Governor Bartley was elected over Governor Shannon and Governor Corwin, though three others received votes.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

It was Tuesday, Sept. 17, 1912.

Four bandits held up and robbed the New York and Memphis mail and express train on the Southern railway at Stevens Gap, Ala. They bound four mail clerks and escaped with all registered letters and other valuable registered mail. Postoffice authorities estimated the loss would reach $300,000.

Bertram G. Spencer, Springfield, Mass., youth, was electrocuted at the state prison in Charlestown for the murder of Martha Blackinton, Springfield school teacher.

Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Houghton and son Arnold returned from a visit of two months in England.

Mr. and Mrs. William P. Mooney entertained a company of friends and relatives at their home on North Prospect street in honor of Mr. Mooney's brother and wife, Dr. and Mrs. D. A. Mooney of Upper Sandusky, who were recently married.

Miss Sarah Curtis entertained a company of friends at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Curtis of Gilead avenue, in celebration of her twelfth birthday anniversary.

After a session that lasted until nearly midnight the Hall Democratic section of the Republican party in Marion county adopted a resolution in which it decided against nominating a separate county ticket.

triumph just touched his mood. He had lived 10 years in the same house as Rosamund, and he had never seen her weep.

Nan's lips had trembled when he touched them—she had trembled from head to foot and had run away—she had looked as if she was going to cry. Perhaps she was lying in the big four-post bed crying her heart out. He had a picture of her in his mind, lying there in the shade of the red curtains, with her head on her arm and her face hidden, weeping soaking tears. For some obscure reason the picture gave him a feeling of pleasure.

He tore open the long envelope which she had sent him. There were half a dozen letters on thin foreign paper, and a sloping pencil scrawl signed Nan. It said:

"Here are my father's letters — some of them. Please let me have them back."

There was a blotter on the corner of the paper. It looked as if a drop of water had fallen there.

SCHOOL HEAD ASKS FOR EXTRA PRODUCE

Fruit, Vegetables Will Be Preserved by Domestic Science Classes for Luncheon.

County School Superintendent D. T. Mills has issued an appeal to farmers of the county asking that they donate to the domestic science schools in their district all surplus fruit or vegetables.

The fruits or vegetables will be preserved, Superintendent Mills said, and will be used this winter in reducing the cost of luncheons in the school children and will aid in providing fall luncheons to those unable to pay.

By this means, he said, some of the schools last year were able to serve wholesome and satisfying lunches as low as 10 cents.

The Stars Say—

For Sunday, Sept. 18.

SUNDAY'S Horoscope holds testimonies of some splendid opportunities for advancement, high favoritism and preferment from those in authority; and profitable connections with large corporations, rings or secret bodies. Yet contracts should be made with precaution, as there may be some disturbing undercurrents and personal strain.

Those whose birthday it is are on the eve of a year of excellent opportunity with desirable offers from large corporations, rings or secret societies, but all should be discreetly and diplomatically managed, not accepted under stress or strife, as the mind may be under peculiar stimulus and also there are signs of inharmony or deception in employment and with writings. A child born on this day should be ambitious, talented, popular and friendly, although it may have leanings to the secret and curious. Wisely directed it should make a notable success out of the beaten track.

Notable ministry: Gwenn Garbo, movie star.

For Monday, Sept. 19

MONDAY'S Astrological forecast is for a very lively and interesting day, with some development of an intriguing nature promising either financial profit or personal advancement of an outstanding and most gratifying character. It is a time for pushing for cherished aims, with renewed contracts probably in secret agreements, diplomacy or even intrigue with those in high places.

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a brilliant opening or alliance with other corporations, trusts, or individuals in places of power and authority. These offers may be secret, intriguing, diplomatic or strategic, calling for change, new expectations and environment with intimate progress and profit of conspicuous nature. It is a time for pushing for such goals and favors. A child born on this day may be talented, ingenious, versatile, even brilliantly clever. It should win important place by these gifts and its personal popularity and prestige.

Notable ministry: Rose Turpin, movie comedian.

PROBATION OFFICER TO ATTEND MEETING

Mrs. Ida Thibaut, probation officer for the juvenile court, is planning to represent this county in the forty-second annual meeting of the Ohio Welfare conference, to be held in Columbus Oct. 4-7. Any other person or group interested in attending conference sessions, in which emergency relief problems will receive major attention, are asked by Mrs. Thibaut to communicate with her.

Memories and Hopes Have Full Sway in West's Old Gold and Silver Towns

— BY WILL ROGERS —

WELL all I know is just what I read in the papers and what I see here and yonder. Do you like to just be in a car prowling around? I know you do, everybody does. I would much rather be in a plane, but if you haven't got one, and I haven't, more folks ask me about MY plane. They think because I do a lot of traveling that way that I must have my own plane. Why I haven't got any more plane than Alabama has Republicans. I have always just used a regular organized line, walk up and pay your fare get in and go where you want to. Its just about the same price as R. R. fare, in most cases cheaper, and by the way it is really being patronized now. There a big travel on plane lines, and if you want to go somewhere book your passage away ahead. I can remember when it looked to me like I was the only guy traveling that way. But I am lost in the mob now. But all this has nothing to do with planes. I am the greatest guy to start in on telling something and then switch over to something that has nothing to do with it at all. I get that from working in the movies. You notice it in our movie stories.

In the Mountains

Well I was up in a town called Bishop making a movie, and we got through with our outdoor shots, (you see we went up there to get the beautiful scenery and get the mountains in the background). We could have taken em at the Studio in "Minature" like they do, but we just wanted to show some real mountains for a change. Well we finished one afternoon and the next day being a holiday we weren't to work. The Company would be traveling back to the studio, so I had never been over into the South Western part of Nevada. So I jumped in my car that very evening and went over a range of mountains about 130 miles to Tonopah, Nevada, thats the old silver town. Its not a ghost town by any means because it has a couple or three thousand people living there yet and is a very interesting town. Used to be along in 1907 and 8 a big rushing thriving town of perhaps 10 thousand or more.

Well I stayed there that night and met a lot of folks, real folks. There is some great people live in those Western towns. Hope is their staff of life. If silver ever comes back, and Lord knows they ought to put some kind of real comparative value on it, for its used as money in twenty countries to gilds one. Tonopah is one of the big silver diggings of the West.

Memories Revived

Well up early the next morning and down to Goldfield. Now dont that name and place bring back memories. One of the well advertised towns of the West. In 1906 on Labor Day, was the biggest and best advertised and best prize fight ever held. That was the famous Gans-Nelson fight of 42 rounds that was promoted by the famous Tex Richards. It was the first big purse at that time $30,000. They kept the prize money all in gold in the window of the Northern Saloon and Gambling House, where all could see it. It was just exactly 26 years to a day when I was there, I had known two of three principals, Nelson and Richards.

There is an old depot down where the fight was held, and the railroad of it has been torn up. The whole line is out of commission now, but there stands the depot right out there connected with nothing. It has now about 300 people in all that still live there. The Goldfield Hotel is kept up and is quite a place yet. It was a little city of twenty thousand in its boom days, and some of the fortunes of Nevada were made there.

Its a Gold town, and they are working some of the mines by small leases. The Government is investigating it as they think there is big pay stuff there yet. Now here was an experience. The papers had been full of a new strike at a place called Clarkdale, for a fellow named Clark found it. So off I went to it, a newspaperman and mining man went with me, and sure enough away out there in the hills on these desert flats was dozen of camps all around a hole in the ground.

Hopes Are High

Lots of em had leased from the original striker, and the others had staked near around there. Well they say there was some real gold there. Of course till they get away down in they cant tell just how much, but the lead looked mighty good, so they said. Course to me it just looked hot and dry, but these old boys that was out there was real miners, they ought to know. Its like us trying to sell a bum movie to a modern audience, it cant be done. So I am going trying to sell to watch this new strike at Clarkdale, Nevada, and see how it pans out. But it was only two weeks old when I was there.

Nevada is a great old State to prowl around in. I went on down to another famous old place Rhyolite, and another nearby called "Bullfrog." But it had jumped its last. Then on that same trip and that same day I drove into Death Valley and visited Death Valley Scotty's Famous Castle. But thats a whole story in itself, in fact its a book, but just get in your car and drive around some time no matter where you live, you will be surprised the old interesting things there is to visit. But dont miss Nevada.

"Heart of a Wife"

— BY ADELE GARRISON —

Madge, Listening to the Bit-by-bit Relating of the Wounded Samuel Brixton, Senses Therein a Possible Explanation of the Kidnaping.

AT Wynne's revelation of what Lee Chow had told him, there again came to me that vague, fantastic fear of what the astute Chinese friend of Hugh Granland might mean by this continuing care of me. Would he be so meticulous to leave a guard with Lillian, for instance, in a similar situation, or was his care prompted by the knowledge of Hugh Granland's care for me?

But whatever the reason, my hands were tied. It, of course, seemed a most natural thing to Wynne, this caution concerning our safety, and I could do nothing but yield. But I did not feel particularly gracious about it.

What Was He Saying?

"It really does not matter," I said indifferently, and Wynn sped down the path toward the hut where Lee Chow was interviewing the member of the bandit gang whom the men had been fortunate enough to trap and bind.

I felt distinctly that it did matter, however, for I had been anxiously awaiting the moment when Mary and I should be left with unconscious Samuel Brixton. For a little while after the gag had been removed from his swollen lips there had been a cessation of the agonized but inarticulate groans that had first attracted our attention to his situation. But now sounds were again coming from him, this time disjointed, delirious syllables, and I was wild to bend over him and listen to the hope that I might learn something bearing upon the tragic problem confronting us.

Sam Brixton's Words

"Go ahead!" Mary whispered, psychically interpreting my wish, "I'll keep Hen-ner-y's mind on something else."

She moved swiftly away from me, and the next instant I heard her naively asking Hen-ner-y if there were any bears or wildcats on the mountain.

"Plenty of 'em," Hen-ner-y replied promptly, but how truthfully I did not know.

"Oh! Heavens!" Mary murmured fearfully.—Mary, who I think would face almost any animal armed only with a poker or a broom. "Do you mean they're around here, now?"

"They might be," Hen-ner-y said, patently enjoying his handiwork. "You never can tell. But don't you worry none. Nothing will teich you while I'm here."

"Oh! have you caught them?" Mary breathed admiringly. "Tell me about some of them,"—and Hen-ner-y was off.

I heard nothing of his saga. Once sure that his attention was effectually diverted from anything but Mary's engrossing patter, I moved to the stretcher upon which Samuel Brixton lay and bent by it, bringing my ear close to the swollen lips from which were coming the sounds that I was sure were words that might or might not be intelligible.

At first I could make nothing of them. Then, as I listened carefully, I realized that these were but low sounds, all relating that each emerged into a pattern I could follow.

"It must be Samuel Brixton and Death!" They were hard to interpret, for, most probably through fear of pursuit, and because of the gauntness of all three. And then, as I straightened myself, satisfied that I had heard all that the messenger man would say in his delirium, another sound, dread, startling, came up the path to our ears, the choked shriek of a man who has just received a mortal wound.

"What!" Hen-ner-y began, but I silenced him with a low, stern "Hush!" and then we waited, tensely, wondering who had uttered that terrible cry. Then there came a shout—Wynne's voice.

Mary Thinks Fast

"Look out!" and immediately following we heard the sound of footsteps pounding madly up the trail. There was no time to get Samuel Brixton away, and of course the rest of us would not desert him, but it remained for quick-witted Mary to evolve a way out of our dilemma.

"Cut this rope, quick!" she commanded Hen-ner-y, and while dazedly and a bit slowly he had cut the rope which dangled from the stretcher, she snatched an end of it and gave the other to Hen-ner-y.

"You stand on that side of the path and hold on to that end of the rope," she directed. "Auntie Madge and I will take this one and hold tight over here. Kneel down and hold it low. Now!" as the pounding footsteps drew nearer, "hold tight for your lives."

Re-Marries Five Minutes After Getting Divorce

By The Associated Press

RENO, Nev., Sept. 17.—Five minutes after obtaining a divorce from Jesse L. Livermore, widely known stock market operator, Mrs. Dorothea F. Livermore married Walter Lodgeope of New York here yesterday.

Judge Thomas F. Moran, who granted Mrs. Livermore the divorce performed the marriage ceremony.

Mrs. Livermore charged desertion. It was understood a property settlement and the matter of custody of the two children had been arranged out of court.

Longcope, who gave his age as "over 21," was at one time an "under cover" prohibition agent in New York.

DELORES DEL RIO TO PLAY AT PALACE IN "BIRD OF PARADISE"

DOLORES DEL RIO

"Bird of Paradise" will be shown Sunday and Monday at the Palace with Dolores Del Rio and Joel McCrea in the featured roles. John Halliday, Creighton Chaney, son of the late Lon Chaney, Richard "Skeets" Gallagher and Bert Roach play prominent supporting roles to the featured players.

King Vidor, the director, always a stickler for realism in his pictures, moved the entire company to Hawaii to photograph this picture, and for that reason, the picture will have scenic beauty aside from the lovely, tangerous Del Rio.

Miss Del Rio will play the role of the exotic "Luana" of Richard Walton Tully's famous play. Leonore Ulric made the role famous on the stage.

An added attraction will be "Movie Album of Thrills."

SETS HEARING DATE FOR C.,D.&M. APPEAL

Ohio Commission To Hear Petition Arguments on Sept. 21

Sept. 21 was set today by the state utilities commission as the date for arguments on a petition for a rehearing of the commission's recent order authorizing abandonment of the Marion-Bucyrus interurban line of the C., D. & M. Traction Co., according to an Associated Press story from Columbus.

The electric company is expected to contend that the utilities commission is without jurisdiction to order it to seal or remove its tracks in this city. The commission authorized abandonment of the line on the condition that the electric company and city officials agree on a plan to dispose of the tracks.

Stroganoff will meet K. M. Bower and Ben Miller, both of Marion in an 18-hole best ball match. Mr. X is making a tour of Ohio courses playing matches with local stars always wearing a mask and refusing to reveal his identity. That he is an excellent golfer is proven by his excellent record. He has been beaten only four times in 27 starts and has won the professional championships of three large cities.

The match will get under way at 2 p. m.

MINNEAPOLIS GRABS FLAG IN ASSOCIATION

Millers Trip St. Paul To Clinch First Pennant in 17 Years.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Sept. 17.—It took a long, long time—17 years—but Minneapolis today had caught up with the American Association championship.

The Millers, considered in for the past month, yesterday put the clincher on the title by beating St. Paul, the 1931 champion, 9 to 1. Roxy Bill Bryan did a workman like job of pitching and his mates backed him up with the proper kind of hitting.

The title is Minneapolis' first since 1915 and is fifth in the history of the league.

The reward, outside of the championship pennant, will be the right to meet the Newark Bears, champions of the International league in the "Little World Series."

Indianapolis clung to third place by defeating Toledo, 2 to 1, in an eleven inning night game. Monte Pearson held the Indians to five hits, but Thomas was more effective, although he gave nine. Milwaukee remained right behind the Indians by making it two in a row over Kansas City, 10 to 2.

Louisville and Columbus were idle.

GOODMAN TO BATTLE CANADIAN IN FINAL OF AMATEUR TOURNEY

Youthful Nebraskan Eliminates Ouimet in Semi-Final at Baltimore.

By The Associated Press

BALTIMORE, Md., Sept. 17.—Johnny Goodman, the young Nebraskan who wasn't good enough to represent Uncle Sam in the recent Walker cup matches, today carried America's hopes in the first international battle for the National amateur golf championship since 1928.

The 22 year-old star from Omaha, who is the youngest finalist since Bobby Jones first won in 1924, was paired with Ross (Sandy) Somerville the steady shooting Canadian from London, Ontario in the 36-hole final over Five Farms course here.

Yesterday Goodman defeated the defending champion who also was captain of the American Walker cup team 4 and 2. Francis Ouimet was the third successive Walker cup nominee Goodman had repulsed. Previously he took the measure of Charles Seaver and Maurice McCarthy.

Somerville passed into the championship round with a 7 to 6 victory over Jesse Guilford of Boston, the 1921 title-holder. Not since Bobby Jones turned back Phil Perkins of England four years ago has the shadow of a foreign threat fallen over the late stages of this tournament.

Only once when Harold Hilton of Liverpool England won in 1911, has the American championship left this country but Somerville has been conceded a fair chance to carry the handsome Havemeyer trophy to Canada.

Playing in the Dark

The playing of the 1932 Little World series for the championship of Marion softball has brought to light the fact that a change is necessary in the arrangements for the affair before time for the next chaotic rolls around. The games should either be played when daylight is still in command of the situation or artificial lighting facilities should be provided. Of course the ideal arrangement would be to install a night lighting system and play the games under incandescents. However, to install such a system would require more cash than there is any evidence the city softball commission will have on hand by that time.

Fielding sizzling hot drives is not what one would call a particularly easy task in bright daylight. But attempting to pick them up in semi-darkness is asking too much. It looks like the only solution is to play the games at an earlier hour. Some arrangement could be worked out to allow this. It isn't fair to either teams or spectators to play another year under the same conditions. It's all right earlier in the summer but not this late.

Tony Lashey Bats 667

Checking back over the averages of the Little World series, it appears quite likely that Tony Lashey, the clouting outfielder of the Gasco club, will cop the batting championship of the series. The Gasco nine is out of the running for the city title but in the three games which the Industrial league team played Lashey strode to the plater nine times and smacked out six safe hits. That's an average of .667—pretty fair batting in most any circuit.

The averages of the Presbies and K. of P. survivors in the series struggle have not been completed but it is certain that no one on either team is hitting at such a clip as Lashey.

The failure of the Gasco to come through the series in better style might be traced back to the failure of their heavy hitters to do any of their vaunted fence busting during the series. Willie Baldauf, ordinarily a murderous batter was up eight times without a hit. Johnny Marshall collected only one safety in five times up. Mitchell batted five times and went hitless. Lashey, Mautz, Richards and Neimeyer are the only four men who hit better than .300.

The complete Gasco averages:

Player	AB	R	H	PO	A	E	Pct.
Lashey	9	2	6	3	0	1	.667
Mautz	4	2	2	0	0	0	.500
Richards	10	0	4	2	2	1	.400
Neimeyer	9	0	3	3	0	0	.333

Zahn	11	2	2	3	3	1	.182
Marshall	9	1	1	2	5	0	.111
Mitchell	5	0	0	2	0	2	.000

HARTNETT'S CIRCUIT WALLOP GIVES CUBS WIN OVER PHILLIES

Chicago Catcher May Prove Disastrous to Yank Hopes in Series.

By The Associated Press

With all the talk of the Yankees' wrecking crew and what they are likely to do to the Chicago Cubs pitching in the approaching World series, it might be timely to point out that the Cubs boast a pretty fair game breaker-upper of their own in big Gabby Hartnett.

If the Chicagoans win in the National league which they will, barring a major catastrophe the Yank cursers will do well to work on Hartnett very carefully. He is hitting like a ton of brick for Manager Charley Grimm specializing in homeruns where they will do the most good.

Gabby Hartnett.

Hartnett's smash over the right field wall in the third inning, his fifth in eight games started the Cubs on the way to their 3 to 2 victory over the Phillies, yesterday.

As all the other National league teams were idle, the victory planted the Cubs a full six games ahead of the second place Pittsburgh Pirates with only nine to go. They now need to win only five more.

Appearing in Chicago for the last time before they go back to tackle the Cubs in the big series the Yankees scored a 4 to 1 win over the White Sox.

Al Simmons thirty third homerun of the year with Cochrane on base helped Lefty Grove of the Athletics take a close decision from Irving (Bump) Hadley of St. Louis 3 to 2.

Ivy Paul Andrews who missed being in the World series money when the Yankees traded him to Boston in the MacFayden deal pitched the Red Sox to a closing 4 to 2 triumph over Cleveland.

Washington took its season final from Detroit 3 to 3. Alvin Crowder setting the Tigers down with three hits, two of them by Heine Schuble.

O'DOUL, KLEIN CLING TO BATTING HONORS

Philadelphia Stars Appear To Have Major League Records Sewed Up.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—With the end of the major league season only eight days away two National league batters, Frank O'Doul of Brooklyn and Chuck Klein of the Phillies appear to have the major league batting honors well in hand.

O'Doul maintained his .370 average through this week while Klein improved his slugging records a bit. At the same time, Jimmie Foxx of the Philadelphia Athletics who set the pace for the big league hitters through most of the season slumped to .336 where he was tied for the American league lead with Dale Alexander of the Boston Red Sox. However Alexander had only 355 times at bat against 545 for Foxx.

Klein and Foxx still shared honors in the all-around slugging race, each topping the majors in two departments aside from the batting averages.

Young Bob Brown of Boston moved into second place among National league pitchers with 16 victories and six defeats. The leader was Lonnie Warneke of the Cubs with 22 and 6. In the American league the leaders, Johnny Allen and Vernon Gomez, both of the Yankees, suffered one defeat during the week. Allen's record now is 16 and 3; Gomez' 24 and 7.

All-Stars Called.

The Marion All Stars softball team will play in Mansfield Sunday at 2 p. m. The following players are asked to be at Central Junior High ready to leave at noon: Carl Shoshe, Ralph Clark, Earl Blocksom, Francis Robbins, Mike Brahm, Johnny Marshall, Galt Doan and Tony Lashey.

SUCCESSOR TO SCHWARTZ

MIKE KABAN
LEFT HALF
THREE THREAT STAR, SPECIALIZING IN SHARP OPEN FIELD RUNNING
SCHWARTZ WILL HELP COACH HIM THIS SEASON

Above is pictured Mike Kaban, the successor to Marchy Schwartz at Notre Dame. How well Mike can fill Marchy's shoes is something that only time will tell. Coach "Hunk" Anderson is banking on Kaban a lot and is firm in his belief Mike will come through with the goods. If he is able to absorb enough knowledge to make him just one-half as good as Schwartz he will be a handy man for the Irish to have around. Marchy, incidentally, is doing the coaching of Kaban.

1 KNOCKOUT SCORED IN RING BATTLES OF AMATEUR WARRIORS

Sixteen Simon Pures Blaze Away in Fights at Eagles' Hall.

One knockout, two technical knockouts and five decisions were racked up last night as 16 simon pure pugilists battled through eight battles in the Eagles hall arena on West Center street.

Louie Sprowes and Joe Caprino, two 75 pound midgets, opened the show by fighting three rounds to a draw.

Emerson Zumbro of Marion 128, smacked out a decision over Richard Donahue in the opening battle of the fight program proper. Don Platt of Marion, 145, followed by pounding out another decision over Carl Wiseman, also of Marion. Wiseman injured his arm and was hardly able to finish the last rounds.

Joe Samuels took the decision from Emerson Burgess with a last round rally in the next fight. They weighed 125. Marty Blue of Marion gave Bill Myers of Bucyrus a beating in taking a decision in the next battle. Blue was too clever for the Bucyrus lad and held the advantage all the way.

Clyde Wilson poured a volley of rights and lefts into Chuck Baker's face in the next fight and turned in the first knockout of the evening in the second round. Both are Marion boys. Baker started strong but folded up under the hard pounding of Wilson.

Ralph Detwiler of Marion and Lewis Mayer of Martel put on a bruising battle with the decision going to Detwiler after four rounds of wild swinging. Detwiler had Mayer badly battered before the fourth round was completed.

Eddie Collins of Marion was the victim of a technical knockout in next the last fight when his seconds threw in the towel in the second after Collins had taken a terrific pasting at the hands of Skinny Anderson.

Johnny Earl of Marion had entirely too much reach and height for Bill Judy of Bucyrus in the last fight and was able to punch the Bucyrus lad almost at will. Judy gave up in the fourth round and Earl gets a technical knockout.

To Play at Morral.

Owens' Billiards baseball team will meet the strong Morral team of the Heart of Ohio league Sunday at Morral. Morral has lost but two games this season but Owens has signed several fast Marion players and is hopeful of adding another setback to the list. Bill Darnell will pitch for the Marion nine.
